NEW BOOK IN THE COUNTY LIBRARY

Beloved, by Vina Delmar.

When Judah Benjamin's lovely and notoriously unfaithful wife wrote to him (from Paris, for she preferred the French capital to their luxurious Louisiana plantation) she addressed him as Beloved. And in her fashion she meant it. Their life together and apart and together again is a strange, intense drama, a love story triumphant over war and national boundaries and the profounder gulfs of temperament. With this turbulent romance as its core, Vina Delmar has written a novel based on the almost incredible career of one of the great legal minds and one of the great men of our country. From penniless youth in Charleston we follow Judah Benjamin to Yale, to New Orleans, through his success as a lawyer, his courtship and marriage, and his election as a senator from Louisiana, Then the clouds of war gathered, and he was chosen by Jefferson Davis to be his attorney general, later his secretary of war, and still later his secretary of state. He was with Davis on the flight after Appomattox, when everything seemed at an end. But for Benjamin it was a new beginning. Escaping by open boat, he forged an even more brilliant career in British legal circles.

NOTICE
REWARD: To anyone who will supply me with authentic information: (1) concerning anyone who is known to have entered the dwelling house on the Scott farm, opposite the Confederate Cemetery, at any time in the past, or who is known to do so in the future, either for malicious vandalism or for theft; or (2) concerning any object that has been "reportedly stolen or removed from the house"; or the place where the said article has been seen or is now known to be. I would thank anyone to help me identify some of these unprincipled, destructive marauders, who think it is "fun" to break into, destroy wantonly, and ruin my property, and who go in and out frequently. Also —would the several persons who arrived in a group and were seen there by me on April 29th, care to come forward and explain exactly what their motive was for being there, and beating a hasty retreat when they knew that they had been seen?

trekked down to Virginia last week for a pleasant sojourn at The Tides. Mother Brighteyes and I spent quite a time on the sand and in the water, and I found the sea-shell shop about 5 miles down town, which furnished some additions to my shell collection. However, frankness forces me to admit the beach gets narrower and narrower at Virginia Beach. We covered in a lot of extra sand during the years back, but at high tide there is no beach. We found it unsafe to venture out only at low tide. At that time, however, Virginia Beach is very delightful. I am of the opinion that sooner or later, more beaches and highways will be available on the long stretch of the Virginia Beach and Nags

Voting Place For Wheat Referendum

Chairman W. D. Hix, III, of the county ASC committee, has designated the ASC office at Appomattox as the voting place for the Wheat Referendum to be held in Appomattox County on Friday, July 20.

To remind growers of the facts involved in the wheat vote, Mr. Hix gave a last minute run-down of the questions involved.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve marketing quotas for 1957:

1. Marketing quotas will continue in effect for each farm on which the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres.

2. Penalties will apply on each bushel of wheat produced in excess of the langer of the farm allotment or 15 acres (penalty rate in 1956 is $1.07 per bushel.)

3. Price support between 75 to 90 per cent of parity will be available to all farmers complying with their farm allotments, regardless of the size of the allotment (1956 price support rate varies by counties from $2.18 to $2.21 per bushel.)

If more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum oppose quotas:

There will be no marketing quotas, no marketing card required to sell the wheat, and no penalties for excess wheat.

2. Acreage allotments will remain in effect for price support eligibility.

3. Price support at 50 per cent of parity will be available to farmers who comply with their acreage allotments.

Chairman Hix urged farmers to study these facts very carefully to be certain that they have a full understanding before they vote. "It is their own decision and it is a very important one which wheat growers will make in the referendum," the chairman said.

Middleburg Tour Planned For County Farmers

A tour of the Middleburg Pasture Research Station has been planned for Wednesday, July 25. The group will leave from the local county agent's office at 7:30 A. M. The tour will begin at 1:00 P. M. All interested farmers are urged to visit the Middleburg Station. Those planning to attend should contact the county agent's office in order that preparations might be made.

Award Contract For Road Work

Contract awards totaling $5,373,252 for 36 road construction projects were announced this week by the State Highway Commission.

Included was the following for Appomattox County:

Routes 611, 667, 605 — 6.94 miles of bituminous surfacing and improvements on a section from Trinity Church to the Concord-Oakville Road at Stonewall. To R. H. Rose, Richmond, $80,052.

Bids for the work were opened on June 20. Concurrence by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is necessary for contracts involving projects financed partly with federal-aid money.

Dinkins At Fort Meade

ROTC Cadet James R. Dinkins, a student at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, arrived at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, this week to attend six weeks of ROTC Summer Camp.

Cadet Dinkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Dinkins, Appomattox, Va., is one of over 1,600 cadets from 40 colleges and universities who will be at Fort Meade from June 23 to August 3 receiving General Military Science training.

During the summer camp period, the cadets will receive practical training in the various military subjects which they have studied in the school classrooms. The training will qualify the men for appointment in the Army Reserve or the Regular Army and for service in the Active Army after they graduate.

WHEN GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER THEY "CHEW THE RAG"

A highly successful gathering of the "Graveyard Net" of amateur radio operators, attended by approximately 295 "hams" and their families, was held last Sunday at Holliday Lake. At the end of the gathering, they voted unanimously to return to Appomattox next year for another get - together.

The Graveyard Net is a group of amateur radio operators that get together every morning from 4 A. M. to 7 A. M., EST, on the frequency of 3885KC for the purpose of "rag chewing," handling messages and to be ready to man the frequency in case of any emergency. This net is covered by amateurs in all 48 states and Canada. The group held its first annual get-together in the form of a picnic and "hamfest" at Holliday Lake.

There were approximately 295 people from 13 states present for the event. Amateurs started arriving in Appomattox on Thursday, July 6, and departed as late as July 10. First amateur with family to arrive was Carl Johnson, Athens, O., and last to leave was W1WHL Gordon (Squire) Shove and his XYL Alice (XYL meaning wife).

The actual activities began Saturday, July 7, after a sizeable group had checked in at local motels and homes. These activities consisted of Eyeball Q50's (meeting and talking to each other in person). A tour of the Compressor Station of Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. and visiting the home and radio station of W4YTD—Joe Fleniken was the opening feature, with the final of the evening being dinner at a local restaurant.

Sunday's activities began at 9 A. M., with registration at Holliday Lake. Swimming, boating, horseshoe pitching, singing, and general "rag chewing" with coffee and watermelon being served, took place until 12:30, at which time a truck load of boxes of fried chicken, prepared by a local restaurant, was brought out, and everyone began getting down to business with lunch. Several families brought picnic lunches and spread them out over the picnic area under the beautiful shade trees. Cold drinks, ice cream and candy were also available.

Next came an auction of radio equipment. Many of the "hams" had brought along excess equipment, and put it up for bids. The auction was followed by short speeches by the organizers of the Graveyard Net, and it was then that it was decided to continue the net control.

Joe Flenken was named to continue as "net control". Several alternate net control stations were named and W1WHL, (Squire) Gordon Shove, Mt. Carmel, Conn., was named new secretary.

Distribution of prizes was next on the agenda.

Many of the visitors took time out while in Appomattox to make a tour of the Old Court House National Park area.

Joe Flenken went on record to thank all the amateurs for making the trip to Appomattox. He also expressed appreciation to the people of Appomattox and vicinity who cooperated so wonderfully, to the Boy Scouts, the employees of Transcontinental, the officials at Holliday Lake, and all others. He also thanked The Times-Virginian for its support of the event (100 free copies of The Times-Virginian of last week's issue were given out as souvenirs of Appomattox).

The consensus of opinion was that come next year, the Graveyard Net will meet again in Appomattox. Until then, they will keep up their radio activities every morning from 4 to 7—A. M., that is.

Transco Builds Archery Range

Members of the Transco Club have just completed a 14-target archery range, located at the Transcontinental Compressor Station.

The range will be approved by the National Archery Association, and will be used for tournament shooting. The Transco Club invites those interested to join them in learning to use the bow and arrow.

On July 14, at 1:00 P. M. a group of James River archers will come here and use the Transco range. At this time, a special invitation is extended to the public to attend the demonstration. The range is located behind the Compressor Station, near the Mably property.

Gladstone Man Killed by Crane

A 38-year-old Nelson County man was crushed to death early yesterday afternoon when a 47-ton mechanical crane shovel he was operating at Babcock and Wilson plant near Six Mile Bridge tipped over and pinned him in his cab. The victim was Lee Monroe Wright, of Gladstone. Rescue workers said that Wright probably died instantly. The victim had been working the shovel on the side of a rocky hill, shoveling a cut through it, when the unit tipped over on its side.

Born in Buckingham County, October 24, 1922, he was the son of Roy Banks Wright and Lelia Adcock Wright. He was a veteran of World War II.

Virginia Pulpwood Production Advanced 11 Per Cent in 1955

Pulpwood production in Virginia during 1955 totaled 1,406,320 cords —up 11 per cent over the 1954 total for a new all-time record. Of this amount, 1,138,078 cords were pine and 264,217 cords were hardwood. An additional 3,525 cords consisted of blight-killed-chestnut, a declining timber source in the Old Dominion and elsewhere throughout the South.

Leading county in the production of pulpwood was Brunswick, with 67,094 cords cut during the 1955 calendar year. Second place went to Buckingham, with 65,254 cords; followed in order by Amherst, with 58,396; Campbell, with 54,595; Amelia, 47,953; Albemarle, 43,536; Dinwiddie, 42,152; Prince Edward, 41,930; and Alleghany, 40,100.

According to the Southeastern Forest Experiment Station at Asheville, N. C., who compiled the data in cooperation with the Southern Forest Experiment Station and the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, pulpwood was produced in 92 of the 98 counties in the state. Only Arlington, Bland, Buchanan, Floyd, Loudoun, and Tazewell Counties were without a market for this type of timber.

Pine constituted 81 per cent of the total amount cut on a statewide basis, but 11 counties showed more hardwood pulpwood cut than pine. Most important of these were Alleghany, Bath, and Rockbridge.

Total production in the South was 18,014,600 cords of pulpwood, an increase of 11 per cent over 1954 production. It represented 58 per cent of total receipts of domestic pulpwood at all mills in the United States, and maintained the South's position as the nation's leading pulpwood producing region.

Lions Club To Hear Dr. O'Brien

Dr. C. G. O'Brien will be the principal speaker at the Appomattox Lions Club meeting, which begins at 6:45 this evening. Lion O'Brien will describe his recent visit to Florida and Puerte Rico. While in Florida he attended the International Convention of Lions Clubs at Miami.

Fifteen members attended the meeting of the club's Board of Directors Tuesday evening. John C. Cole, president, states that in addition to routine business, the board discussed long-range plans for civic betterment, including needed industrial development.

FEED COOPERATIVE TO HAVE BEAUTY CONTEST

Southern States Cooperative and Coleman's Feed & Seed Store will sponsor a beauty contest for teenager's and a watermelon feast on August 17, as a feature of the regular annual meeting. Girls 14 through 18 years old who are interested in entering the contest are asked to register at Coleman's store. Contestants must be from a farm home and unmarried. Entry blanks are available at Coleman's.

Forestry Camp Next Week

A Forestry Camp will be held at Holliday Lake the week of July 16 to 21. This is an annual feature of the summer here, and comes as a break in the series of 4-H Club Camps at the Lake. Appomattox 4-H members will be at the lake for the week beginning July 30.

SUPERVISORS MET WED.

The regular monthly session of the Appomattox Board of Supervisors was held yesterday. Routine business was transacted.

TOBACCO GROWERS TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

Members of the Dark-Fired Tobacco Growers Marketing Association will meet at the court house here on Saturday, July 14, at 2:00 P. M. Purpose of the meeting is to nominate candidates for director of the organization and elect officers.

CLOVER HILL H. D. HOLDS PICNIC

The Clover Hill Home Demonstration Club held its annual picnic on the grounds of the American Legion Building on Tuesday, July 10, at 6:00 P. M. The following members and their families or friends were present.

Mrs. B. G. Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Pancake, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Hermcall, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Richardson and two children, Myron and Anita; Tommy Ranson, of Norfolk, who is visiting the Richardsons; Mr. and Mrs. John Tweedy, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Torrenee and children, Wayne, Larry and Michael; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Richardson and three girls, Catherine, Cynthia and Jane; Mrs. T. R. Richardson, Mrs. Jessie Carwile, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith, Misses Dorothy and Bonnie Law, Mrs. C. L. Johnson, Mrs. W. P. Gills, Mrs. Rebecca Shanks, Mrs. Catherine Frazier and two children, Judy and Tim; Mrs. Frances Conner, Mrs. Wilson Paulette, and Mrs. Verna Conner.

COUNCIL MEETS MONDAY

The July meeting of the Appomattox Town Council will be held Monday night.

With the race virtually at the half way mark, the standings are tightening in the Appomattox Softball League. Oakville is clinging to the top spot by half a game, but three other teams are pushing hard to take over the lead. Transco, Appomattox Garment Co. and Esso are in the thick of the race with Oakville. Furthermore, the Pamplin club has added new strength and hopes to move up in the standing. Concord has shown improvement, too. From all indications there will be close games from now on in the league, and players hope the public will turn out in larger numbers for the games. Softball games are being played at the Appomattox Town Ball Park, at 7:00 and 8:30 P. M. on Tuesday, Thursday and Fridays.

The Schedule
